The original Eden?

Fanning out like the fingers of an outstretched hand, the Okavango Delta is a labyrinth of waterways and islands that are home to such a profusion of wildlife that one cannot help but wonder if this isn't perhaps the original Eden. The Delta is one of Africa's greatest wildlife sanctuaries and a place where the great herds still roam. Flying over the meandering waterways in the golden light of dawn is an experience that will touch your soul forever.

Mozambique's bounty

The lives of the fishermen of the Bazaruto move in tandem with the tides of the Indian Ocean. They leave at dawn in their traditional wooden dhows to do what their ancestors have done for centuries: sail the azure blues in search of fish for themselves and their families. Today's glistening catch gets pulled in, quicksilver in the nets. Mozambique's bounty provides.

Makgadikgadi Pans

The Makgadikgadi Pans in Botswana are among the largest salt flats in the world. Very little wildlife can exist here during the harsh dry season, but following the rains the pans become an important habitat for migrating animals. During the wet season Sua Pan is home to the only breeding population of Greater Flamingos in southern Africa and is protected as part of the Nata River Bird Sanctuary.
